Breakout Sessions - Competitions

with Alan Tran (alan@uspk.org)

Goals: Explain USPK takes a pro-competitive stance and builds an understanding of community opinions on competition formats and where there is space for non-competition (committee?). Narrow down the types of competitions we'd like to see in the future and how we can use existing comps to further that.

What kind of competitions do you enjoy?

- Sport Parkour League, Midwest Parkour League, & West Coast Parkour Championships
- Online bracket-style competitions
- Speed / Skill / Style
- World Chase Tag

What does the future of sport parkour look like?

- Having mobile parkour equipment that can be utilized by events.
- Corporate brands and sponsors that help support parkour through various capacities.

How can we ensure event organizations are behaving responsibly?

- The main aim of sport governing bodies is to draw up rules for a sport, to develop and promote it, to widen its popularity, and to represent the sport and those involved in it. It takes principles of democracy, independence, fairness, solidarity, and transparency.
- Sport participation in the Olympics which can build a global cache of interaction and support.
